

ABOUT THE BOOK:

Coyotes are North America's most adaptable predator. Their range is expanding and there are more coyotes in North America today than at any other time in history. Thousands of pets are killed by coyotes every month in the U.S. and Canada ... and news reports indicate that attacks on people are becoming increasingly common. The fact is: predators – including coyotes – must hunt, kill and eat prey in order to survive. It is their nature – it is nature. But for lack of understanding, many people are shocked when conflicts occur between humans, their pets... and coyotes. This conflict with predators is nothing new – increasingly prevalent perhaps, but not new. We cannot completely eliminate coyotes – nor would we ever want to. But with a few simple steps – toward both defense and offense – we can safeguard our communities from the risk they pose. We can make our pets, children, yards and neighborhoods ... Coyote-Proof.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Neal Bolton has interacted with coyotes for nearly 50 years. He is an engineer and has written a number of technical books, but he is also an avid outdoorsman and hunter and has previously written on outdoor topics as well. Neal was inspired to write Coyote-Proof when he realized that for many people, dealing with the threat of coyotes was completely unnatural – something they'd never even thought about, let alone grown up with. Growing up in a small, rural community, Neal is intimately familiar with the very real threat of coyotes. As an adult, he has hiked, fished, and hunted throughout much of the western United States and has acquired a realistic understanding of the relationship between predator and prey. He currently lives in California but also lived many years in Montana and Idaho.

PUBLISHER: BLUE RIDGE SERVICES, INC.

ISBN-13: 978-1722360870

ISBN-10: 1722360879

PRICE: $12.95 (PAPERBACK) - $5.99 (KINDLE)

CATEGORY: PETS-GENERAL

PUBLISHED: 2018

CONTACT: INFO@COYOTEPROOF.COM

AVAILABLE AT:

amazon

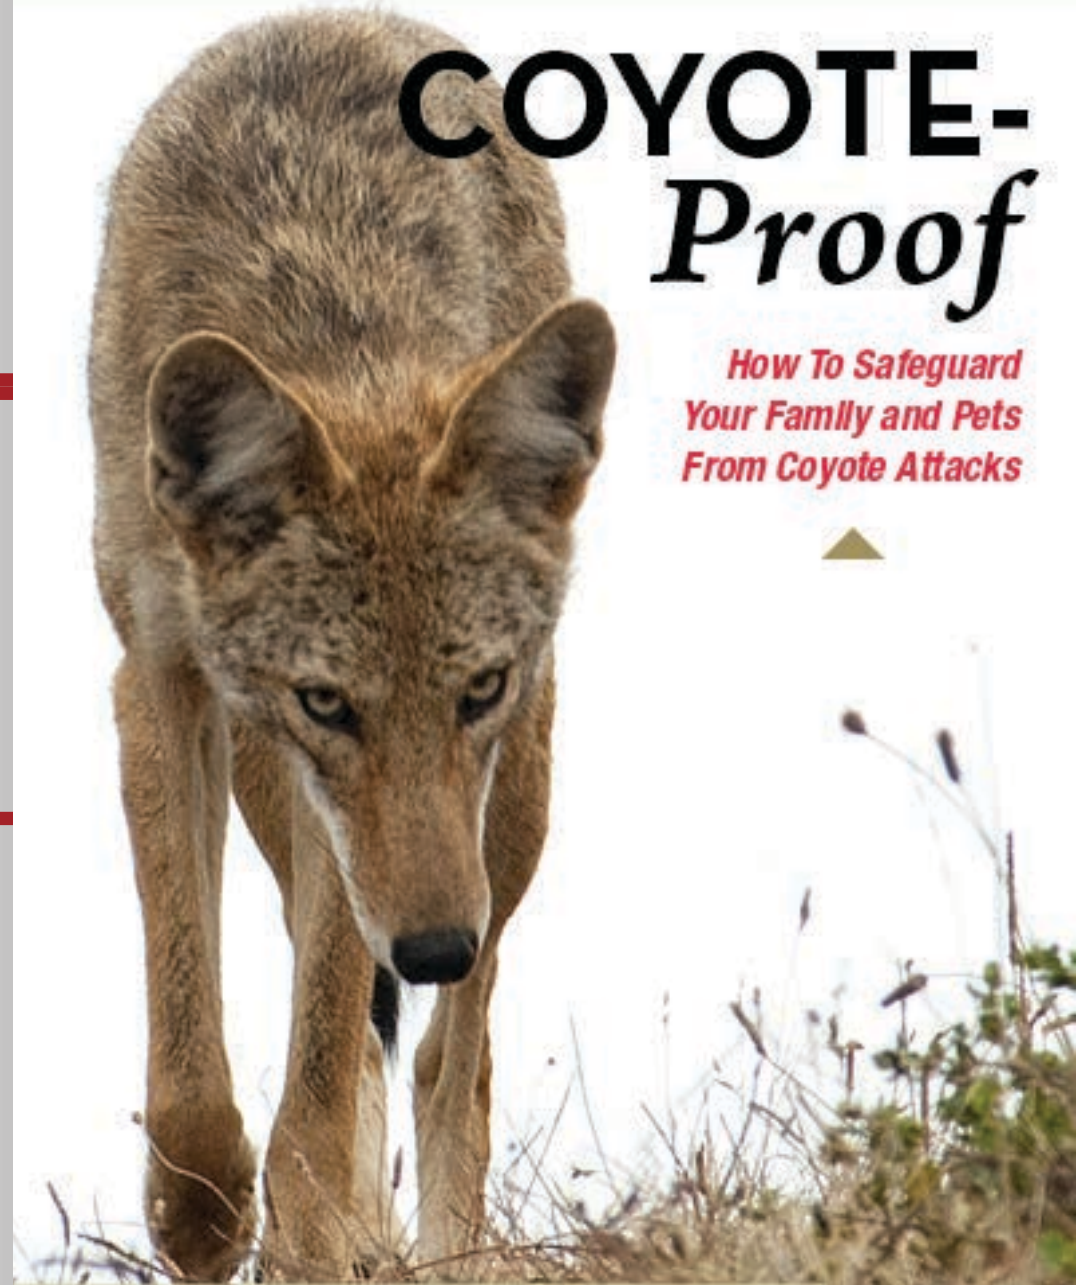

BARNES & NOBLE
BN.com

WWW.COYOTE-PROOF.COM

COYOTES are the MOST ADAPTABLE PREDATOR
in North America - and they're in our neighborhoods

COYOTE- Proof

*How To Safeguard
Your Family and Pets
From Coyote Attacks*

NEAL BOLTON